

REMARKS

The amendments now submitted or agreed upon with Examiner Vu in May 27, 2004 interview. The amended language verifies certain features of the invention, regarding the independent nature of the two seat platforms in the claimed apparatus and with words which better define the resilient means that provides for movement for pitch, roll and yaw as well as forward and rearward glide of the ilia and sacral bones relative to one another (and further providing for lateral glide, in the case of claims 9-11).

Examiner Vu indicated these changes would put the case in condition for allowance, and allowance is now respectfully solicited.

Respectfully submitted,
